"The prevailing opinion among agricultural chemists for some time, and one which I have shared, have been that plants get nearly all their nitrogen from the soil and extremely little from the air. As to sowing wheat which has been swelled and sprouted before, we have Prof. W. J. Beal's testimony in substance as follows: He found that while the plumule lived the young roots always died by drying, and new roots must be pushed out to cause growth. A commission was lately appointed in Belgium to test the comparative merits of skimming milk after standing, both by following the ordinary method in porcelain pans and also in specially constructed pans, immersed in a receptacle containing running water or susceptible of receiving ice. This quantity was placed in the porcelain pans and allowed to throw up the cream dnring twentyfour hours; the pans were then skimmed and the cream clinraed. The great naturalist Linnens thought ac had discovered a plan to eause pearls to grow, which was to imitate the parasites already mentioned. The pearl mussels were taken from the wider and the shells bored, then placed back and left for four or tivo years. The Swedish government paid him $1,800 for the idea, but it did not prove a success. The Chinese have done well with the pearl byster. They sprinkle sand over the beds when the oysters or mussels are open, and also put little images in the pearly luster. These can be seen at the | needs, with nothing to show at is end. shells that soon become coated with a Central Park Museum. It would be hard to deceive a dealer, but spurious pearls are made so skill fully that it is extremely difficult to tell them. For years a bogus pear! manufactory was carried on at Murano, a litthe town near Venice. The forms were made of glass, while the iridescence or orient was produced by quicksilver; but they were chiefly used as beads for the peasantry. Finally, the French took up the business, and noticing the richuess of fishes' scales, they used them to produce the luster, and with great success. The dace and the roach were the tishes used. In Italy the smelt is taken from the Tiber, and its scales yield an extremly rich secretion or mneus that can be used for the purpose; but to the eye accustomed to the real pearl these imitutions are so much dross, and I can hardly better express the difference than o say that the spurious ones seem dead and devoid of the blush and sparkle that is the beauty of the real pearl. latter needs no artistic adornment to set it off. Held in the hand and subjected to the closet scrutiny it appears the

A Swindler Disgraced.

There is a man in New York whose linner could not have digested very well or afforded him much solid comfort. He dined at a hotel and took his meal in good style. Instead of paying the amount marked ou it he furlively put it | way? in his pocket and attempted to just out the door in an unconcerned manner. without bestowing the customary attention on the official who sits at the receipt of custom. Had the greedy and well-fed person been mindful of the fact that two detectives are kept on constant duty, lurking for just such patrons as himself, his course would have been different. As it was, his massage to the street became a very different affair from what he had intended it to be. Instead of being allowed quietly to chuckle over luving swindled the hotel out of the price of his dinner, he was brought to a halt by ne'of the detectives and made to give an account of himself. His stammering apologies did him no good, and only served to stimulate his captor to make a conspicuous example of him. Culling to his aid another employe of the house, the detective cansed the wretch to ' walk 'Spanish" to the doorway, at which point he kicked him into the street, umid the applause of the bystanders, who by this time were informed as | Supervisor of Postal Card Manufactory, to the why and wherefore of the transaction. In a demoralized manner the deticted and disgraced "diner out" landed or the pavement and slink away with a view of reaching a place where the gaze of his fellow men would not be so couspicuously directed at him. It would h ive been quite as legal to have had this fellow arrested and convicted of swind-ling the hotel, but the moral effect of t'm; boosting him into the street was far more impressive on the bystanders than a year's imprisonment in jail would have been,—Philadelphia Times.
